

AIGA Worldstudio Scholarships

Helping young artists and designers achieve the dream

Worldstudio in conjunction with AIGA, the professional association for design, provide scholarships to minority and economically disadvantaged students who are studying the design/arts disciplines in colleges and universities in the United States. Among the Scholarship's primary aims are to increase diversity in the creative professions and to foster social and environmental responsibility in the artists, designers, and studios of tomorrow. To this end, scholarship recipients are selected not only for their ability and their need, but also for their demonstrated commitment to giving back to the larger community through their work.

Entries are evaluated by a jury of creative professionals appointed by Worldstudio and AIGA. In selecting the winning entries, jurors take into account a number of factors, including: quality of submitted work, financial need, minority status, academic record, recommendations, and strength of written statement of purpose.

Since 1995, more than one million dollars has been awarded to over 700+ minority and economically disadvantaged college students of design, art and architecture. Scholarships start at $2,000 and reach $5,000. In addition, honorable mention prizes in the amount of $500 cash are awarded.

Each year, hundreds of students apply for these scholarships, and on average 20 ultimately receive awards. This is a testament to the strength of the winning entries, but also a reminder of the ever-growing need for funding. Help increase diversity in the creative profession.
