As Americans, we need to stand for more than just our political party lines. We are not just Republicans, and we are not just Democrats — we are Americans, intertwined as one. Together we can engage in our free, democratic process. Be a part of history and a part of the future... unite and vote.