4 things you can do to become a better citizen.
(Hint: They all involve voting)

PROCESS
Understand the issues that are important to you. Ignore the politics of personality. Gather the information necessary to make an informed choice. Then, vote.

PROFESS
Take a stand for the issues you care about. Write to the candidates. Write to your elected officials. Vote. Inform others to do the same.

PROTEST
Take action when you think things are headed in the wrong direction. Your vote is not your only voice. Make yourself heard. In the interest of discussion, be prepared to defend your beliefs. It is your right.

PROGRESS
Responsible citizenship results in positive change. A democracy is only as good as its participants. This November, the best thing you can do for yourself is to cast your vote.

Good design makes choices clear.
